Principal Dan Howe takes time out before school to talk with Seniors Tammy Andrews and Debbie Butler. This was Mr. Howe's first year as principal at North.

Helping students with program mix-ups are Assistant Principal Mr. Passwater and Guidance Coordinator Mrs. Klocke. Mrs. Klocke was the only member of the administration that stayed on from last year.

Redskin's Indian Dave Windsor performs his traditional "Chief Mac" war dance at a pep session.

Four unidentified art students start to climb the steps of the Chicago Art Museum. Field trips were taken by different classes to change the day-to-day activities.

Drafting instructor Timon Kendall prepares to give Senior John McGowan some advice. Drafting students learn the techniques of drawing figures and layouts.

Breaking barriers to share thoughts and ideas with each other was the main goal of the 1499 Redskins.

Having an entirely new administrative staff and 8 new faculty members was one of the first barriers to be broken. Trying to fill the shoes of the previous staff, the "top four" showed enthusiasm towards school equality and spirit.

The 520 sophomores became a part of North Side only after adjusting to their new surroundings and getting together as a class.

Unity was the word for the 511 juniors. Having more pressures put upon them, this class had to make decisions for their future, not only as individuals but also as a whole.

With a certain kind of pride, the majority of the 468 seniors look back at the barriers they have conquered. Throughout the three years this class spent together, the disturbances and the happiness, the class of '75 stood united.

The class can see their responsibility to themselves, which must show if they are going to conquer the barriers they meet on the outside world. We break through the old barriers of school and begin new ones.

Girls in Miss Donnelly's gym class play a brisk game of field hockey in the cool mornings before winter.

Jumping for a shot is an unknown student in Mr. Taliaferro's gym class. Splitting up into small groups gives each student a chance to play.

During the lunch period a group of students relax and "refuel" to carry out the rest of the day. The hats some students are wearing represented the seniors during Redskin Rampage Week.

Mr. Massoth gives individual help to one of his students in Advanced Art. Sketching is just one of many things taught.

During his busy campaign, Congressman Ed Roush took time to talk with Senior Ed Markowski. Roush spent many hours visiting the schools in the area.

At a pep session for the football game against South Side, Senior Jeff Dellinger prepares to throw a role of toilet paper, an added attraction to the rally.

The North Side fans assist Varsity Cheerleaders Brenda Fox and Barb Woods in a cheer.

Breaking barriers on the outside world

No, it's not Halloween goblins, it's just the boys' cheerblock doing a cheer during half-time at the football game against Snider.

Two of Miss Donnelly's gym students play tennis. Miss Donnelly taught classes outside when it was nice.

Taking it easy before school starts are juniors Kirby Christner, Sandy Smith, Jeff York, and John Flaherty.

Seniors Leeann Lantz, Cheri Miller, Karen Lambert, and Marty Pequig-not enter the first pep session by way of the traditional red carpet.

An unidentified Redskin shows just how hard it is to get back into good study habits during his free period in the Media Center.

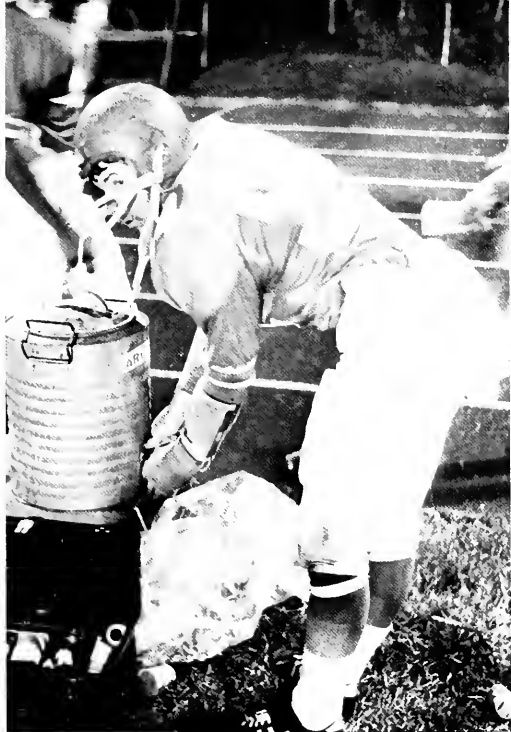

Members of the Senior Powder Puff football team listen to instructions from their coaches before the game. The final score of the annual game was Seniors 12-Juniors 12.

North's pride was displayed by all at the pep session held during "Redskin Rampage" Week. Everyone got involved by making homeroom posters, dressing up as cowboys or Indians or throwing an occasional toilet paper roll.

Student Council representatives gather for milk and doughnuts at the organizations first meeting.

Senior Rex Junk takes a break during his last football game of the season. Rex was the starting center the past two years.

Juniors Harriet Jackson and Gary Joiner take the PSAT/NMSQT tests which help to prepare them for the SAT tests.

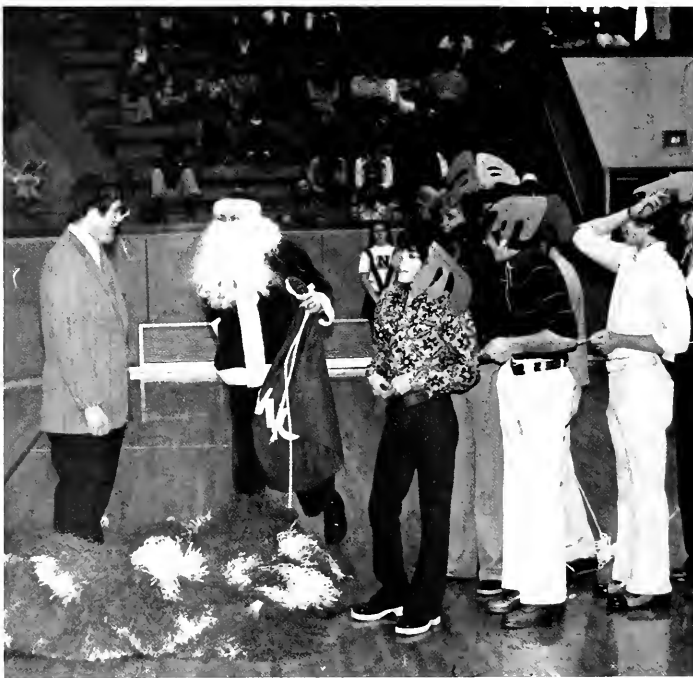

Led by drum major Bruce Robertson, members of the marching band perform for the judges at the NISBOVA contest.

Cheerleaders Nancy McKathnie and Laura Lombard pin flowers on Brian Nonemaker and Dwight Thomas, varsity basketball players. These gifts were presented to all team members during the pep session prior to the Northrop game.

Wrestling coach Don Hunter and members of his varsity team get involved in a sketch with Santa Claus during the Christmas pep session.

Going for a rebound during the Snider game are Al McGee, Joe Haft, and Frank Thomas. Snider won the game in an overtime, 66-64.

Seniors Marty Pequignot, Julie Gearheart, Jean McMahon, and Helen Wiegand share a joke during the Senior Breakfast.

Mixed emotions mark the faces of students as they walked home in the first snowfall of the year.

At one of North Side's after-game dances, Mr. Phillip Stubblefield shows what he can do as he dances to a new tune.

Members of Under New Management, a Campus Life rock group, performs a number for the student body.

Mr. Orvil Schlatter surrenders peacefully as members of the Junior Class kidnap him as a way to get back the Peace Pipe that a group called The Junior Birdmen of America took.

At the sight of the photographer, Senior Bruce Robertson hams it up. Mr. Hill in the background hides his face.

Basketball player Bobby Jackson does his weights workout to keep in shape for the next North Side game.

Measuring for a cap for graduation is the representative Mr. Muncy.

At the Senior Christmas Dance Andy Zweig and his opponent see who can pick up the most jacks at one time.

Junior Tom Williams demonstrates a karate pose on the trampoline as Senior Bob Van Buskirk spots him.

Breaking the classroom barriers

D.E. & C.O.E./ Business techniques lessons shown by vocational rooms

Two business programs give on-the-job training as well as class time study. One is Distributive Education. Students in D.E. deal with merchandising of goods and services. The other program, Cooperative Office Education, is office work.

The distributive program is a part time cooperative course in which students may work on-the-job a minimum of 15 hours per week. Mr. Richard Irving, D.E. teacher, requires a certain team of students to be responsible for the bulletin boards plus regular assignments.

Miss Nancy Heck, C.O.E. teacher, gives the girl the name and address of a particular business; the girl then sets up an appointment for an interview. In class, each girl works on the skill she most needs improvement. She is also required to put up a bulletin board explaining her job. Every Monday a wage report, attendance report, and a question sheet about the problems she had at work is filled out.

Mr. Dale Goon, department chairman, helps sophomore Tina Huhn with a problem in recordkeeping.

Business/ Attendance jumps as new course offered

Advanced shorthand students listen to dictation tapes to improve their shorthand speed. Most students can do over 100 words after they get through with the year.

Mr. Dale Goon, business department chairman, has many responsibilities. He takes care of all the books and supplies. When the business machines are broken, he makes sure they get repaired. One of his other duties is to make out teacher's programs.

There is one new course this year. It is an Introduction to Data Processing. This course familiarizes students with the key punch, flow charts and other material.

"A total of 1,089 students are enrolled in at least one business course," commented Mr. Goon. He also mentioned the fact that business classes are not being taught any differently. Some classes connected with the business department are typing, accounting, shorthand, secretarial and clerical practice, business law, consumer education, and data processing.

Business helps students develop at least one skill that will be of use after graduation.

Drama/ Enthusiasm: main goal of students

Approximately 90 students were involved in Drama and Stagecraft headed by Mr. Douglas Stark.

The Stagecraft made props, helped with costumes and found out what went on behind the curtain while a play was going on in front.

Drama was divided into two classes. Advanced drama was for students who wanted to better their ability in acting. Beginning drama was for students just learning about the history of drama and learning how to act. Mr. Stark stressed showing enthusiasm whenever they acted.

Mr. Stark and students put on four plays throughout the year. The season began with "Harvey," presented in November and "Story Theatre" in December. Then in March came the musical, "On a Clear Day," followed by the last production "The Price" presented in May.

The students put many hours, day and night, into the plays they produced for the school.

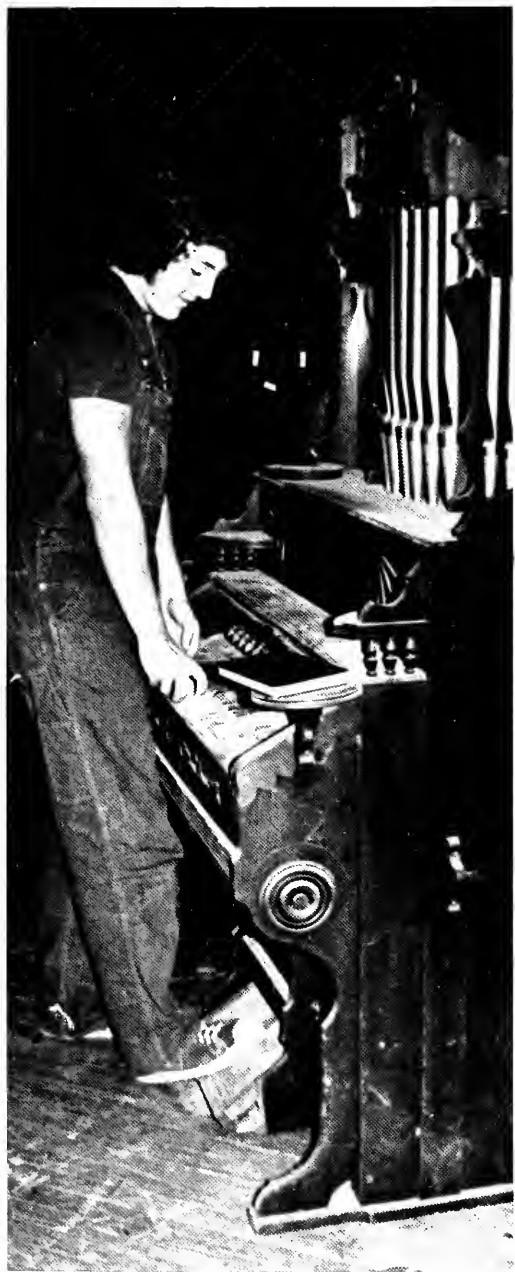

Sophomores Anita Salazar and Vickie Sourers of first year drama, act out part of a play on stage. Beginning drama students put on plays in class and studied the history of drama past and present.

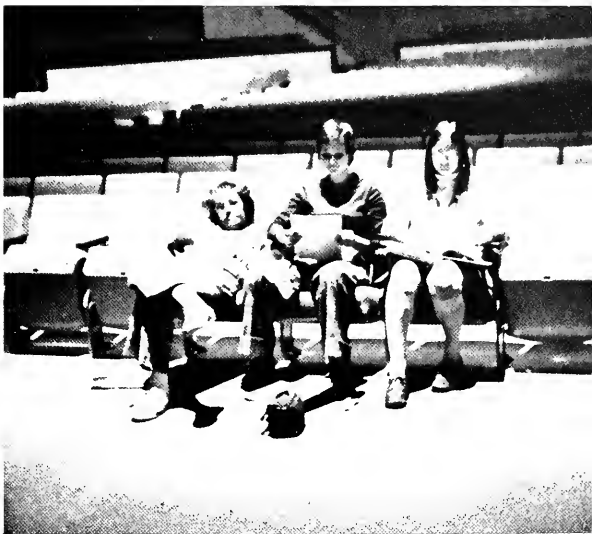

Mr. Stark, head of drama, points out to Lee Seeger when he comes in for a skit presented in class.

Senior Steve Smith and Junior Lori Redwandki rehearse for their parts in the all school play, "Harvey."

Junior Gerry Strack of beginning drama takes time to act out his part in "Harvey." He played the organist, E.G. Cofgiron.

Advanced drama students Tom Lindsay and Rose Herber take a break from the set as Cheri Miller reads over her script.

Reading part of a play in beginning drama are Sophomores Kathy Schramm and Debbie Gaunt. Every student did a skit in front of the class.

Speech & Debate/

Students improve skills;
gain confidence

The speech department has flourished under the guidance of Miss Claryn Birk.

Advanced speech class, consisting of ten members was very enthusiastic and had a good attitude toward their special talent. They tried to make full use of their ability, learning to take the wins right along with the losses and knowing satisfaction in what they did. The goal? To enjoy what they did and become aware of competition.

The 46 beginning students learned self-confidence and poise when speaking to the group. They were required to hand in two speech assignments in each nine week period.

Miss Birk was truly excited about the class. "I've never had a chance to work directly with competitive students in this type of situation. The atmosphere is more relaxed."

Acting as audience, Joan Skordos listens to Dave Bennett rehearse his speech. The speech and debate team helps students achieve the ability to speak in front of other people with ease.

With the assistance of Leonard Wood and a tape recorder, Steve Smith records the morning announcements. By recording first, Steve can make any necessary improvements or corrections.

Speech teacher Miss Claryn Birk tells the class some important basics when speaking to audiences.

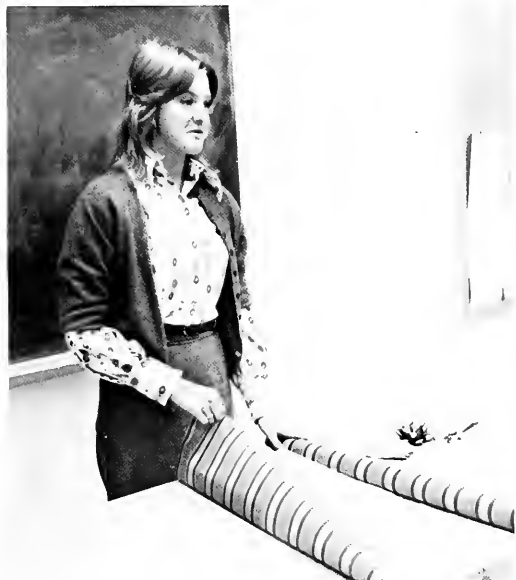

For a class demonstration speech, Gerry Strack shows the proper way to take a wrestler down.

Seniors Jennifer Dreher and Clara Benitez get some advice from Miss Birk. Miss Birk helps students gain confidence and improve their skills when they present their speeches.

Giving a dramatic performance from a scene in the play "Luv" are Tom Lindsay and Leonard Wood. The speech students performed the act up at Ball State University last summer.

Presenting a demonstration speech on gift wrapping, Junior Melania Sult demonstrates some basic techniques on how to wrap a package faster and make it neater and prettier.

Music/ Department one of biggest in school

Approximately 150 students, including 24 Arrowettes, participated in Marching Band. A new addition to the '75 corps, was four Swiss flag twirlers. North was the only school in the city to have them.

The band, directed by Mr. Ed King, marched before and at half-time at all home football games. They also competed in contests during the year, the main one being the N.I.S.B.O.V.A. marching contest.

Mr. John Hill was director of the Madrigal, Troubador, and A'Cappella choirs. "Mads" consisted of ten students, Troubadors had 41, and A'Cappella had 65. All groups practiced every day for performances.

The Music Department spent many hard hours of work, first, second, third and seventh periods to perfect their talents in marching, singing, and playing.

The Marching Band performs at the first pep session of the year. When basketball season starts, students in the marching band play in the Pep Band.

Drum majorette Carolyn Parkins stands at attention at the NISBOVA Contest.

Mr. John Hill takes time out to talk to senior John Palm in the ensemble room.

Perched on top of his ladder, Mr. Ed King watches the marching band perform early in the morning.

The Arrowettes start a morning practice by marching in place. Morning practices started as early as 7:30 am.

Mr. Stubblefield accompanies himself on the piano and sings a tune for his choir class.

Arrowette captain Mary Carpenter discusses a show routine with Mr. Rick Ludwig, Arrowette sponsor.

Math/ department adds two courses, one teacher

There was a new look in the Math department, as Mr. Robert Lovell moved to head of the department and Mr. Randall Liechty joined the math staff. Mr. Liechty taught fundamental algebra and geometry along with basic math.

Also new were survey math and basic math, offered for the first time. Both courses were aimed at helping students understand why and when applied problems work.

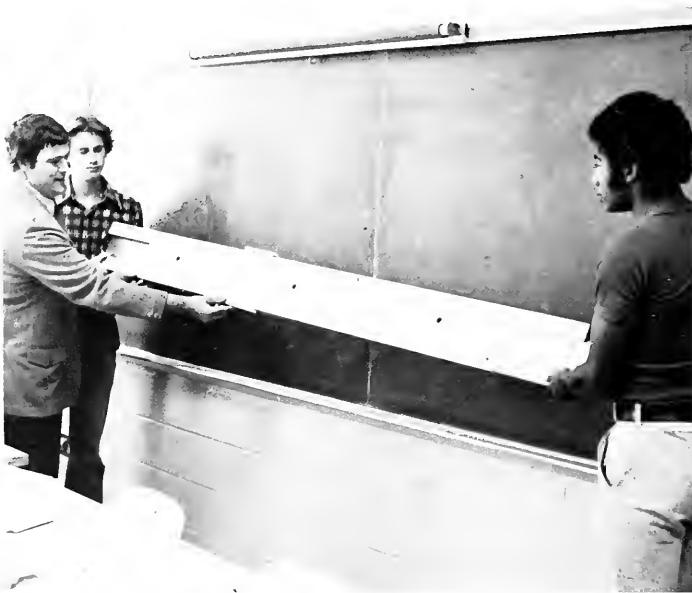

Mr. Donald Hunter took over advanced algebra, directed mainly to juniors, Mr. Hunter also taught basic and fundamental algebra, along with Mr. By Hey and Mr. John Stauffer.

Mr. Hey taught algebra and survey math while Mr. Stauffer taught geometry.

Seven hundred and eight students were involved in math. That is 46% of the school. This figure is considered good in comparison with other high schools, according to Mr. Lovell.

Mr. By Hey quizzes his algebra three class on their homework, and prepares to write correct answers on the board. Mr. Hey also teaches survey math, which is new to the department.

Mr. Don Hunter is demonstrating the use of a slide rule to his sixth period algebra three and four class. Aiding Mr. Hunter are Junior Brian Nonnemaker and Senior Dwight Thomas.

Junior Karen McCombs, student in Mr. Lovell's third period survey Math class, requires the use of a protractor in figuring her problem.

Mr. Randall Liechty looks on as seniors Brenda Jump and Lenord Wood demonstrate the usefulness of a compass for drawing circles. Mr. Liechty is a new addition to the math department.

Junior Mitch Hilliard, student in fundamental geometry, is using a compass to aid him in figuring out more precisely the answer to his problem.

Advanced algebra teacher, Mr. Don Hunter, explains and demonstrates the solution to a problem to Senior Dave Ehler. Advanced algebra is the second part of a two-year block.

A geometry class hurries to figure out an answer while Mr. John Stauffer waits to demonstrate the correct procedure on the overhead projector and find out who had the right answer.

Phys Ed/ Different moods found in gym class schedule

Physical Education Department Chairman Ron Taliaferro reported attendance figures up from last year, especially in advanced gym classes. Mr. Taliaferro's advanced class ballooned to 44 boys from 16 last year and Miss Anne Donnelly's advanced class rose to over 20 participating girls, from eight a year ago.

In boy's advanced gym, handball was featured on real handball courts. Girl's advanced gym had a course on belly dancing and modern dancing.

Mr. Taliaferro commented on his second year by saying, "The students showed a lot more enthusiasm, and this inspired me to teach better."

Mr. By Hey, Mr. Dean Slavens, and Mr. Verbie Walder also taught one gym class each.

In the general gym classes, the boys participated in flag football, softball, track, soccer, basketball, gymnastics, volleyball, and swimming. The girls competed in field hockey, archery, tennis, track, volleyball, basketball, gymnastics, and swimming.

Two tennis players volley the ball over the net, sometimes anyway, in Miss Anne Donnelly's gym class. After learning the basics, the girls played on their own.

Mr. By Hey performs and explains a swimming technique to his co-ed class, as one of the girl participants looks on. Mr. Hey also taught the importance of water safety and lifesaving.

Sophomore Cathy Sizemore follows the path of the ball as a student leader moves to make a return.

A scene from William Tell? Not quite. Really it's Miss Donnelly praying that student helper Pam Grider has true aim for the shot she's going to make at the tennis ball on the gym teacher's head.

Confusion, clowning, seriousness, competitiveness, and togetherness are depicted in this scene of Mr. Ron Taliaferro's class, which is enjoying the good weather while getting set for a period of flag football. Mr. Taliaferro, extreme left, comes up the field after getting one group started.

English/ Student involvement is planned for classes

The English Department, by dealing with mental growth and developing a command of the language, is designed to get every student involved in the program.

Mr. James Lewinski, chairman, calls the program a "self-centered thing, trying to individualize our teaching."

The department offers two specific blocks of English, designed for students with differing capabilities. "A Block" is for more advanced pupils with study on abstract ideas of English, and "B Block" is for students who need help in basic areas and skills. Juniors are required to take either block of study, while seniors have the option of taking no English courses. Sophomores are not blocked.

Thirteen hundred eighty six students were involved in the English program.

Miss Claryn Birk and Mr. Michael Morris were new instructors. Miss Birk is from Decatur, and was active in dramatics at Ball State University. Mr. Morris is a graduate of Manchester College.

Mrs. Rose Farrell reads an excerpt from the play "Raisin in the Sun." She helped the sophomore classes gain valuable knowledge in English.

Mr. Robert Pugh gets his class involved in literature by reading and discussing.

Mr. Norman Fisher prepares his class for an upcoming test by writing on the board questions to be answered.

Mr. Michael Morris, a new addition to the English department, gives a student individual help.

English department chairman, Mr. James Lewinski reads a poem to his Literature Seminar class.

Junior Jerry Gatewood gives his views on a subject as Mrs. Kathleen Neuhaus looks on.

Mr. Harold Gruver directs his pupils performing a play. "Our Town" was presented by this sophomore class and received humorously by Mr. Gruver.

Industrial Arts/ Creativity the key to these classes

The Industrial Arts wing was full of action and creativity day in and day out.

Offering these specific types of classes; Beginning Woods, Beginning Metals, Beginning Drafting, Advanced Metals, Advanced Woods, Advanced Drafting, Power Mechanics, and Electronics, the study material remained the same as last year.

The major change in class projects due came in Mr. Jon Bill's metals classes where they made a drill press vice and learned about reorganizing machine maintenance and repair.

Besides Mr. Bill, there were three other teachers, Mr. Robert Edwards, Department Chairman, Mr. Clive Wert, and Mr. Timon Kendall, new to North Side, who said, "I think this is the best school in the whole world because I gave up tenure to come here."

Mr. Robert Edwards, woods teacher and department chairman, answers this student's questions about his project. The wash bowl is used to keep students from becoming a mess.

Some students are resting as Mr. Bill's beginning metals class begins. After attendance, the action started when the machines came on.

Senior Linda White shows the female touch as she works independently in shop.

Sketching nostalgia pictures for future paintings are Seniors Karen Mansfield, Carol Davis, and Sharon Byanski. Mr. Ken Biberstein gives the girls some tips on techniques.

Art/ Teepee, art museum spark activities

Junior Sue Buckley pencils in finishing touches as model Lisa Carrol sits quietly for the second year art class students.

Fourth year art students Monica Delobbe and Leslie Polivchak add the finishing touches on the Teepee.

Art students got off to an early start with their involvement in painting the teepee. The advanced classes spent about a week of their time in decorating the teepee with various Indian designs.

Another highlight for the third and fourth year students was their class trip to the Art Museum in Chicago. Mr. Bruce Massoth said that this trip "gave the students an excellent opportunity to see some great art."

Because of the large amount of interest in photography by the art independent study students, a class was designed for the first semester. These students also worked with sculpturing and other handicrafts such as ceramics and weaving.

Mr. Ken Biberstein was the department chairman. Both art teachers rotate this responsibility annually. Work involved with this position includes purchasing all supplies, planning class trips, and handling all of the paper work.

Foreign Language/ One class teaches language varieties

The Foreign Language Department introduced a course that deals with French, German, Latin, and Spanish all in one year, with half a semester for each individual language. The new class, according to department chairman Mr. Paul Lemke, "deals with everyday type of living and customs and is not only an introductory course but a good class for language veterans."

Each class is taught by a teacher who specializes in that language: Mrs. Sherrylene Gerber teaches German and Spanish, while Mr. Ward Beckley conducts Latin and Mrs. Ramona Ransburg teaches the French portion.

The independent study that was initiated last year carried through to this year and looks as though it's here to stay, according to Jeff Dellinger, fourth year Spanish student. This type of study involves third and fourth year Spanish students who meet daily and have a teacher accessible for help and to give tests.

Spanish and French consist of reading, writing, and speaking the language for a thorough comprehension. Latin deals mostly with word tenses and sentence comprehension. The Latin class worked so that they would be able to visit Rome as a class.

Department Chairman Mr. Paul Lemke stands with the flags of the Spanish-speaking countries and holds Mexico's. Mr. Lemke teaches Spanish and has taught all levels in his career.

Rome is a place the Latin class would like to visit as it is pointed out by Latin teacher Mr. Ward Beckley. The Latin class sold candy in order to finance the trip to Rome.

A French town is the subject of discussion as Mrs. Ramona Ransburg points it out to class.

Cathy Faughn recites an answer from her text book in an advanced French class as Al McGee looks on. Alan visited Belgium this past summer, where he spent some time learning foreign customs.

Sitting at the control panel of the headphone control Mrs. Gerber is having her first year Spanish class listen to dialogue. Spanish is not all work, as they show how they share a joke.

Jeff Dellinger uses the language lab to study Spanish dialogue and practice his pronunciation. Jeff is on the independent study program.

Science/ Experimental labs are used in classes

Science courses are offered to every student. They are ecology, chemistry, physics, earth science, advanced biology, man made world, and advanced science.

In ecology one studies the environment and its problems. Labs are also used in study.

Chemistry students study chemical and physical changes. Lab sessions are also used. These labs consist of experiments with acids and bases, metal and nonmetals. Chemistry is necessary for anybody that plans to be a chemist, doctor, or geologist. Physics uses mechanical labs. These labs feature experiments with pulleys and levers, atomic and nuclear power, and light sound. Physics is recommended for those who want to go on in science.

Earth science students study the earth's layers, rocks and minerals. Air photos and the flow of rivers and streams are also studied. Earth science is needed for someone who wants to be a geologist.

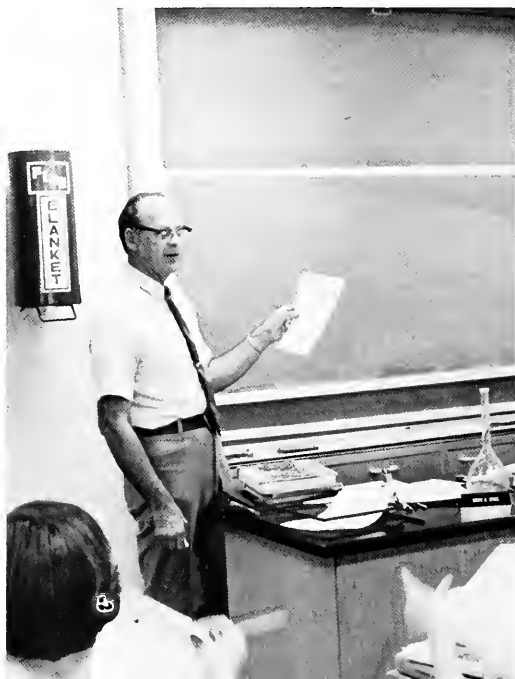

Seniors Alice Turner and Mary Wyatt heat a test tube with chemicals in it. Combining chemicals is one way chemistry students find out why things work the way they do.

Sophomores Karen Gilson and Brian Kline discuss the position of a constellation on a map of the stars in science class. Studying astrology was only one of many interesting things explored.

Mr. Beryl Lewis explains a worksheet to one of his chemistry classes. The purpose of this worksheet is to explain the different kinds of chemical compounds and how to name them.

Junior Ronnie Sparks and Senior Jim Carpenter observe a chemical reaction in Mr. Lewis' chemistry class. Chemistry helps a student better understand many scientific things.

Junior Sue Payne talks into the microphone as Senior Keith Caudill and Junior Brian Nonnemaker measure the sound waves in her voice. This is part of Mr. Rice's physics class.

Mr. Merle Rice adjusts the overhead projector before charting a graph for his man-made world class. Students in this class study the interaction between society and technology.

Social Studies/

Mr. Evans teaches
Values and Issues

Mr. Waveland Snider hands back homework to Seniors Kathy Franson, Doug Hopper, Barb Rice, and Brenda Gray. Mr. Snider also taught U.S. History.

Sheryl Mason talks to her history classmates.

Besides U.S. History, World History, Sociology, Government, and Anthropology, the Social Studies Department has a new addition called Values and Issues. This class, taught by Mr. Donald Evans, looks at current issues around the world.

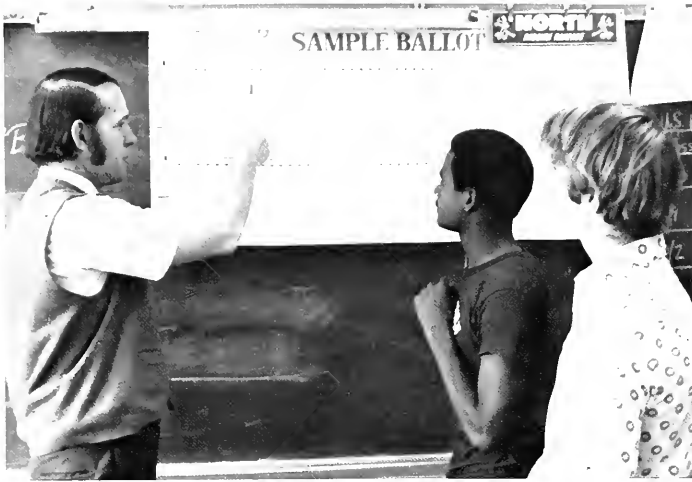

U.S. History was a required subject for all juniors. They learned about the United States from the time of the Pilgrims on up. World History was an elective open to all grades. This class was more complicated and involved more, as it looked at the past and present of countries all over the world and how to get along with them.

Seniors must take Sociology and Government, one semester each. In Government, students learn how the lawmaking of America is accomplished. Sociology deals with different cultures of the world.

Anthropology was open to all sophomores for a semester. Students looked at the past through the means of archeology and evolution.

Mr. Ken Miller gives individual assistance to one of his students. Frequent student-teacher conferences like this one are often necessary.

Juniors Milton Calhoun and Brian Thornhill listen to Mr. Donald Evans as he discusses voting, illustrated by this mock ballot. Mr. Evans is the only teacher to have a Values and Issues class.

Mr. Myron Henderson takes time out to give the class a cheerful smile.

Mr. Arthur Eldridge browses around the room to help individuals in this History class.

Journalism

Gathering new ideas
are goals for students

Beginning Journalism classes learned basic skills in writing news stories and putting a yearbook together for a story. The students went out into the community and collected information about business men and women about their jobs. The department received light tables and paste-up equipment.

There were two other classes, one for the publication of The Legend and the other for the production of The Northerner, the weekly school newspaper.

Miss Norma Thiele, adviser for the two classes, stressed neatness, promptness, and accuracy. Students learned helpful hints for getting their spreads and pages done for both publications. Miss Thiele taught such things as caption and body copy writing and setting up and cropping pictures.

Getting the school newspaper ready for the print shop are Seniors Kathy Franson and Jennifer Jones. The Northerner staff writes news and feature stories concerning the students and teachers.

Miss Norma Thiele, Legend adviser, demonstrates to the Legend staff the proper way to write cut-lines. A cutline expresses the action of the students and teachers in the picture.

Six people from the Northerner staff help fold copies of the newspaper to be sent in the mail.

Home Ec

Many helpful skills were taught in course.

Discussion plays a big part in Mrs. Martha Goncalves' Human Development class. Subjects such as dating, marriage, divorce, death, and other things about the functions of life are studied.

The Home Ec Department taught the students skills and knowledge that would be necessary in their future.

Sophomore students began with foods and clothing. Food preparation, meal planning, and care and construction of clothes were among topics studied. Advanced classes actually made the clothes and planned and prepared food.

The first semester in Human Development took seniors and juniors into subjects such as marriage and family living. Second semester was concentrated on child development. A nursery school was set up and run by the students. An important aspect of this class was to help the students find themselves and set their goals.

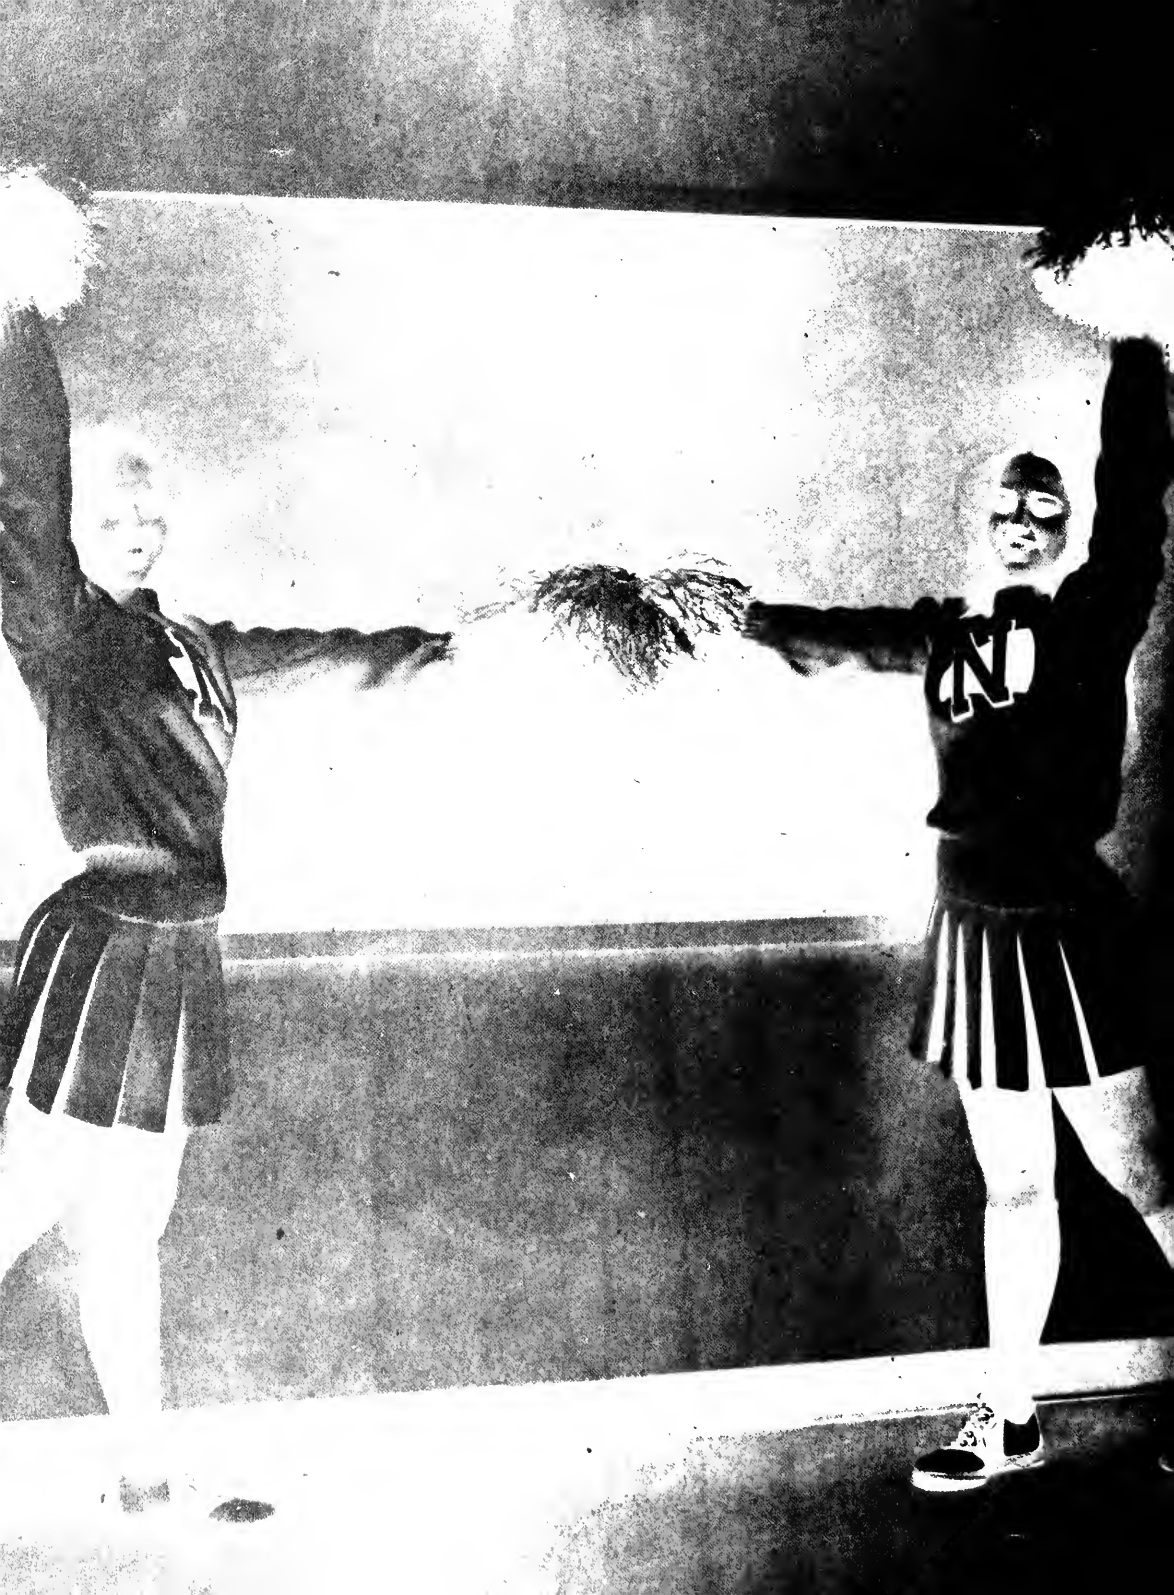

Other subjects that were covered were death, divorce, legal aspects, planning a wedding, and problems of senior citizens.

Improving her sewing skills is Senior Sherry Rice. Making clothes is included in the advanced classes.

Mrs. Crocker's substitute, Mrs. Monette King demonstrates food preparation to beginning students.

Breaking barriers in the sports

Football Walder leads team in close contests

New Head Coach Verbie Walder summed up the season by saying, "There were a lot of things to be improved on. Our staff had little time to work together before the season so we had difficulty there too." The team had a season record of 2-7 and a SAC record of 0-4.

Joining Mr. Walder in coaching duties were Mr. Don Hunter and Mr. Mike Morris.

Al McGee threw eight touchdown passes. Dwight Thomas caught 20 passes for 380 yards, while Frank Thomas caught 17 passes for 250 yards. Mike Jenkins led the Redskin rushing attack.

On the defensive side of the game, Mr. Walder said, "Jim Anspach and Rick Nelson did good jobs for experienced players and Doug Bills and Larry Gage did well for first year players. Nelson led the team with six interceptions.

The reserve football team began the season with a win, but lost the remaining six games. Keith Durbin led the offensive game, and the defensive standouts were linebackers Chuck Andrews and Steve Winters.

The Redskin delegation heads for the locker room at halftime of a home game. During halftime, the Redskins received inspirational pep talks to rev them up for the rest of the game.

Senior quarterback Al McGee waits for the center snap to put a play into action, while his line digs in to protect him. McGee threw eight touchdown passes during the season.

Assistant Coach Timon Kendall discusses defense strategy with Larry Gage on the sidelines.

Varsity football head coach Verbie Walder takes time during an early season practice to go over plans with the reserves. The reserve players dressed for and some saw action in varsity games.

Tennis Team made progress as season went on

Tennis Coach Myron Henderson observes, "the longer the season went the better the team played. I am proud of our improvements since the first four matches."

The team record was 9 and 4 including second in SAC. At the closing, they had a winning streak of seven matches in a row.

The best single player was Dave Beard, who won 13 matches and lost 4. The best doubles combination were Mike Burke and Bob Wahl, who had 9 wins and 2 losses.

In the Sectionals, Belmont was wiped out by North. Dave Beard, Jim Stieglitz, and Mike Whitmore won singles matches. In the second match, Concordia beat North by a 3-2 score.

Mr. Henderson looks ahead for next year by saying, "We will have three Juniors, Tracy Aumiller, Bob Mosser, and Bob Wahl, returning, as well as five sophomores, Norm Gerardot, Greg Tarr, Tom Terrell, Dave Graney, and Tim Zimmerman.

Junior Cross Country runner Bob Lantz participated in the Cross Country Sectional at Shoaff Park. He was seventh man on the team, and is here opening a gap between himself and a Carroll Charger.

The cross country team finished their season with a 6 wins and 9 loss record. During the regular season, the team finished tenth, third, and eight in the DeKalb, Huntington, and Patriot invitationals.

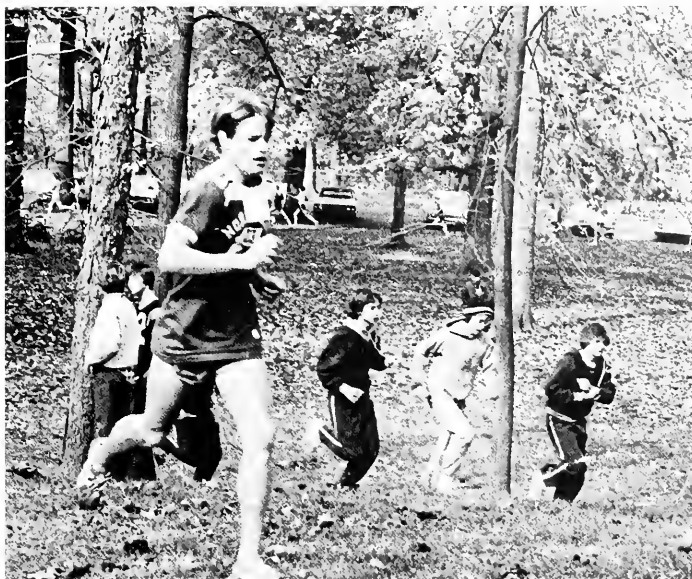

In sectional competition, the team latched onto ninth out of 21. Gary Olinger led the Redskin runners, placing 27th, two ahead of Paul Shaw, who finished 29th out of a field of 100. The harriers captured sixth in city with a 3-9 record.

Mr. Dean Slavens, in his first year as head coach, stated he felt his team performed up to their capability.

Senior Paul Shaw nosed out Senior Gary Olinger for the number one spot, with times of 12:44 and 12:48 respectively.

Another close duel was for third spot; it was won overall by Senior Glen Patterson over Junior Tom Knudson. Their best times were 13:28 and 13:20. Jeff DeWeece rounded out the top five position.

Mr. Slavens has three of his top seven runners coming back next year. They are Tom Knudson, Jeff DeWeece, and Bob Lantz.

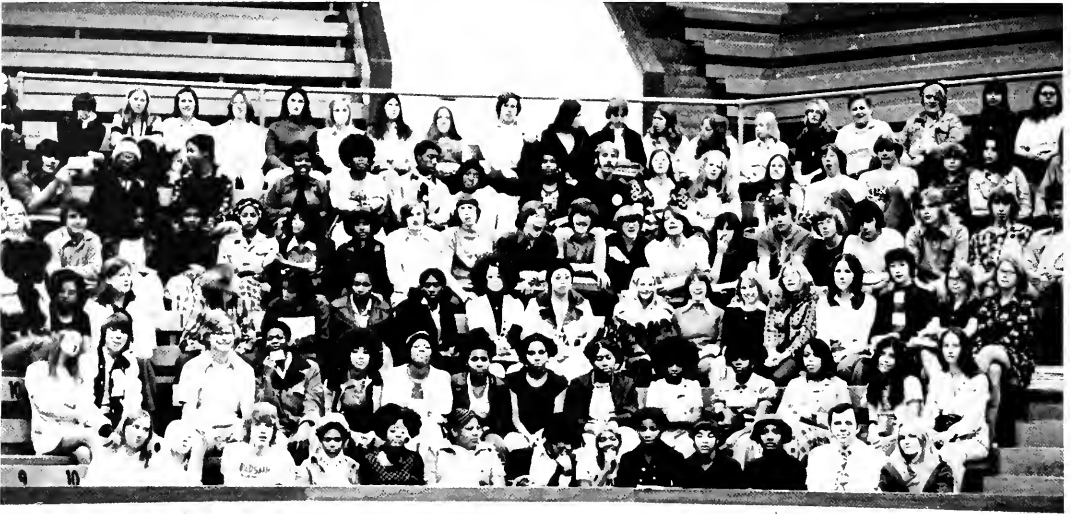

Taking advantage of the high ground Senior Paul Shaw is racing for the finish line. Paul was the number one man for the team and finished a strong 29th in a field of 100.

Before their second city meet, the cross country team gets ready to participate in their two and a half mile run through Shoaff Park. The team finished the year with a 6-9 record, and ninth in Sectionals.

Cheerblock

New group brings spirit back to North

These cheerblock members helped lead and create cheers at all football and basketball games.

Varsity cheerleaders and cheerblock members yell a cheer for the basketball team as they play against Snider. Although the team lost, the block was always behind them with plenty of noise.

Members of the cheerblock join Mr. Harold Gruver, sponsor, raise the spirit at a football game by doing their traditional cheer—"Give me an 'N'."

The enrollment for Cheerblock rose to 217 members. This increase was due to the newest addition to the group—boys.

The purpose of the organization was to help keep up the spirit throughout the school during football and basketball seasons. They met during homeroom periods to practice their old cheers and learn new ones.

Being a cheerblock member had its advantages. The student got best seats in the house, bus rides to out-of-town games, and first choice in seats at the Coliseum.

One of the main events was a pizza party. This was paid for with the Cheerblock funds, which were raised by sponsoring various school activities.

The group sponsors were Mr. Harold Gruver, who got the boys involved, and Mrs. Rose Otte.

Students in cheerblock, along with the rest of the crowd, stand and yell to boost the team on to victory.

Mr. Harold Gruver gives the photographer a funny smile as another guy signs up for cheerblock on registration day at the beginning of the school year.

Cheerleaders

Girls boast school spirit;

Eight girls made up the Varsity Cheerleaders. These girls cheered at all varsity football and basketball games.

The reserve cheerleaders were divided into two squads. The first squad consisted of five juniors and one senior. These girls cheered at all reserve football and basketball games. The second reserve squad involved 11 sophomores. These cheerleaders boosted the fans' spirit at all sophomore football and basketball games. Both reserve squads were members of cheerblock.

Mrs. Rose Otte, sponsor, explained that cheering at cross country, tennis, wrestling, and track meets or baseball was on a voluntary basis.

The cheerleaders sold candles and booster buttons to raise money. They also sponsored their annual All-City Cheerleading Clinic which involved all schools. The money was mainly used to buy new uniforms.

All cheerleaders took some part in planning each pep session. A different chairman was chosen for each school assembly. Along with the pep session, every week these girls would try to do something nice for all the guys on the different teams.

Girls' Volleyball

Varsity finishes well;
Reserve team new addition

"I think the team did a very good job. They played as a team, which was the key to our success," said Miss Anne Donnelly, head coach.

The team tied with Wayne for the best record in the SAC, but the City title was awarded to Wayne because of their previous victory over North Side.

In the sectional tournament North was favored to win. However, the team lost to Snider, whom they had beaten during the season.

This was the first year for a reserve volleyball team. These girls finished their first season with a 3-0 mark. The reserve team had some extra coaching from Mr. Robert Taliaferro, boys gym teacher.

Coach Donnelly is "very much looking forward to coaching the volleyball team next year; I hope that there will be a lot of girls who will want to participate."

Daily practicing is an important asset to the girls' varsity volleyball team. Teamwork plus skills sent the team to the sectionals, against Snider, with a great season record.

Varsity Basketball

Redskins have good season;
Win, lose some close games

Topping Goshen with a 64-61 win, North then stopped defending state champion, Northrop, 70-59. Of the next six games, the Red and White came out on top only twice, with one of those an 81-47 ripping over SAC opponent Bishop Luers. This was balanced by a thrilling 66-64 conference loss to Snider at the Coliseum.

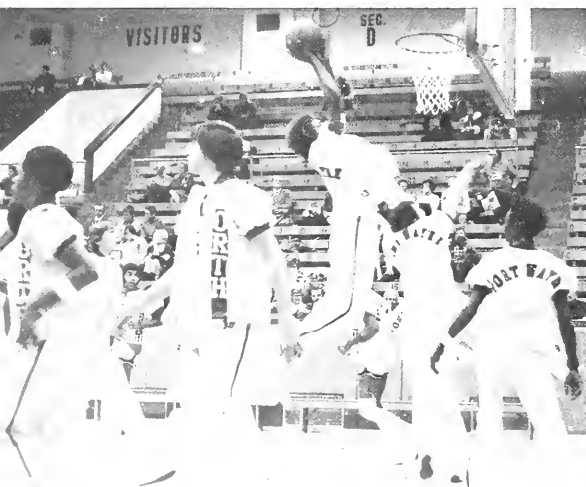

The Redskins revengeed their loss to Snider by defeating the Panthers in the Bishop Dwenger Holiday Tournament by 72-61. In the championship game, the Skins were hot and they annexed the tournament by heating Dekalb, 84-53. North went on to win 8 of their next 10 games including a 70-50 win over South Side, a victory of 83-49 over Harding, and a 67-61 win over Elmhurst.

The team was led in scoring by Al McGee, who got help from Dwight and Frank Thomas, Joe Haft, Frank Thomas, Jerry Gatewood, Jim Anspach, Gary Joiner, and Bobbie Jackson, saw a lot of varsity action in a balanced team attack.

Redskin guard Jack Bailey starts to drive but has the ball knocked away by Northrop's Willie Spencer. The game, played in front of a packed North Side gym, was won by North 70-59.

In their second game of the season, the Redskins hosted the defending state champion Northrop Bruins. On their way to the win, North center Joe Haft defends Maurice Drinks, Northrop center.

Tourney

North takes title
by winning three

Senior Dwight Thomas finds himself covered at all sides by Woodlan Warrior players as he drives to the hoop. Dwight had 11 points against Woodlan and Carroll, but an injury limited him against Snider.

In the Regionals, North beat Leo 68-39 and East Noble 56-36. In Semis they defeated Anderson Madison Heights 72-68, but were overpowered by Marion 82-61.

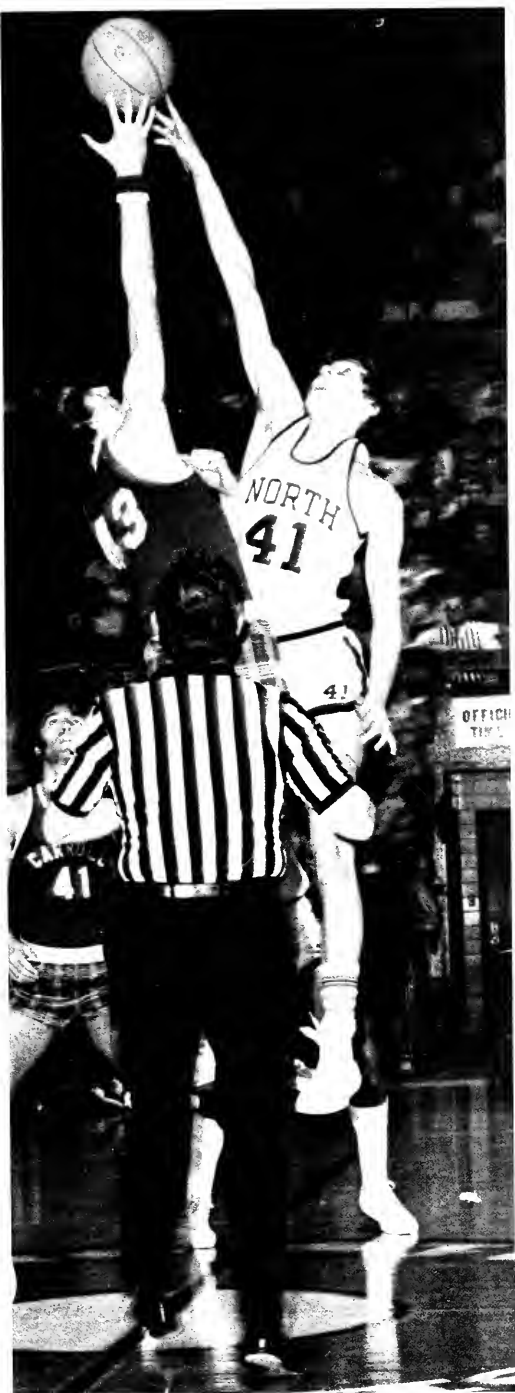

Opening up against the respectable Woodlan Warriors, the Redskins found themselves in a ballgame, leading by eight at the half, and winning 75-51.

The next game, against the Carroll Chargers, was broken open in the second quarter when North took a 42-25 lead. They breezed in the rest of the way, winning 91-68. The big story of the game was North's 51.3% team shooting average.

In the Sectional I title game, North and Snider played a close game, North leading most of the way and having a 32-30 halftime lead. In the second half, North led by as much as 10 points, but Snider drew close in the final seconds, until Jack Bailey's free throws iced the game, 61-58. Leading the North scoring was Frank Thomas with 19 and Al McGee with 13.

During one of the quarter intermissions, the Redskin players get the lowdown on what they should do to win from Coach By Hey and assistants John Stauffer and Arthur Eldridge.

Senior center Joe Haft goes high to control the tip-off against the Carroll center. Joe played good defense and rebounded well throughout the tournament.

North Side's Al McGee hits a free throw against Carroll en route to a 25 point night that ended with North winning 91-68.

Reserve Basketball

Reserves, Sophs winners;
Show good win streaks

The Reserve basketball squad started out lightning fast then slowed up a little, but nonetheless, had another good campaign. They won seven straight to start, including wins over SAC opponents Northrop, Bishop Luers, and Snider. In their next ten games, the Skins won 5-5. To end the season, they got back on track and continued to win.

Leading the team through the season in most phases of the game were Juniors Leroy Bragg, Rick Nelson, Brian Nonemaker, and Mike Wallace. Another highlight for Coach John Stauffer's men was the capturing of the Garrett Reserve Tournament.

The Sophomore squad did well in their games. They went 1-2 at the beginning and end of the season. Sandwiched in between this though, was a six game winning streak.

Coach Arthur Eldridge's team was led in scoring by Greg Noel, Shelly Van Ryn, and Tony Hart.

Wrestling

Team ends season, 5-7;
Grant falls in Regional

The Wrestling team finished the season with 5 wins and 7 losses.

This fact does not reflect some individual effort by Senior Dave Grant and Sophomore Tom Kaufman. Dave ended his season with a close, hard-fought loss to Regional Champ Bruce Thieme of Belmont, 14-10. Dave landed third place in regionals. Tom finished his season with an impressive 13-8 record.

Coach Don Hunter commented that the season was disappointing because only four wrestlers who were varsity at the start of the season finished it. One of those nonfinishers was "Mr. Injury," Senior Dave Ehler, who sat out another season with knee trouble. He also was injured last year. Junior John Craig also was injured early in the season.

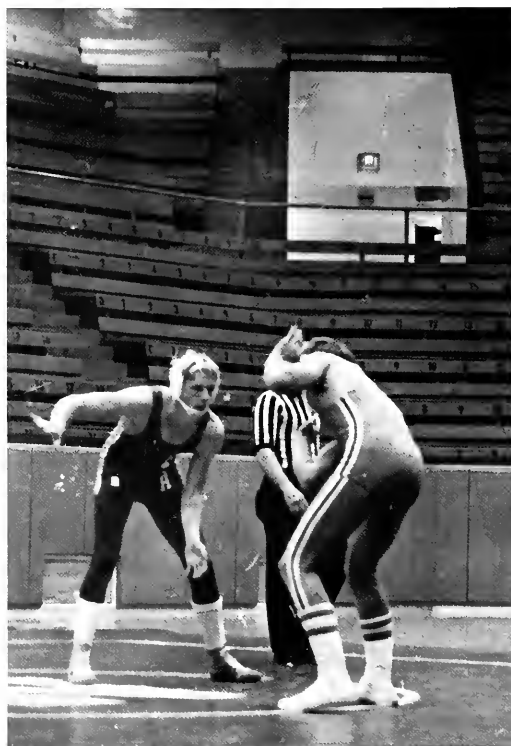

Coach Hunter is losing only three grapplers, Mike Marino, Dave Ehler, and Dave Grant, due to graduation.

During one of the meets at North, members of the wrestling team, along with coaches Hunter and Fisher, watch a match from the bench.

Taking the riding position over his opponent is Senior Dave Ehler. Dave had tough luck with his wrestling career after being injured at the beginning of the season.

Senior Mike Marino jockeys for position at the beginning of his match. Mike wrestled the 156 pound weight class. He ended his season with a 8-8-1.

Golf

Golfers hope 1975
will be successful

The 1974 Redskin linksmen began poorly, finished strongly, and played fair in the sectionals. The golfers had a poor month of April, going 2-6, with wins coming against Bishop Luers, 169-178, and against Homestead 161-169.

The month of May brought about a record of 8-5, with defeats of Elmhurst, South Side, Harding, New Haven, Hobart, Garrett, Carroll, and Elmhurst again. This brought North's season record to 10-11, while the reserves finished with 4 wins and 6 losses. Also in May, North finished sixth in the North Side invitational, totalling 348 strokes.

June brought the sectionals, and North was led by Gary Dick, Scott Wagner, Jack Weisz, and Mike Krouse, who all averaged in the 40- to 42-stroke range. North finished eighth, totalling 322 strokes.

At the beginning of the 1975 campaign, the Redskins were practicing at the local golf courses, being optimistic with the return of Dick, Krouse, and Wagner.

Two of North's returning varsity golf lettermen try to make a point on how to grip this iron. Gary Dick and Mike Krouse talk it over.

Golf Coach John Stauffer informs team hopefuls of the rules he will want observed when the season starts.

Gary Dick practices his chipping so all points of his game can become polished with finesse.

Girls' Tennis

City Champs last year;
team shows promising season

Members of the tennis team are (Front row) K. Horton, L. Hannie, Coach Donnelly, L. Lehmon, D. Cantwell, D. Desmond, L. Van Ryn. (Back row) L. Barton, S. Ranly, L. Lombard, J. Petrie, R. Love, S. Hinkle, and C. Lehman.

The girls' tennis team had a very successful season last year by finishing first in city with a 9-1 record. Their only loss came from South Side.

The twelve girls were led by sophomore captain Debbie Cantwell, who won the city singles title. Number-two seeded Roxanne Love, sophomore, came close with the city runner-up title. These two girls went together to also win the city doubles title.

Coach Anne Donnelly said of this season's team, "We've lost a few of our starters from last year, but I feel that the returning girls plus the new ones might easily win the city title again."

Girls' tennis will have a regular sectional tournament starting this season. "We have some girls that could go all the way, said Miss Donnelly.

Junior Roxanne Love practices in the girls' gym after school. On bad days, Coach Donnelly would hold practices indoors.

Debbie Cantwell, junior, returns a ball with her backhand swing. Debbie is a returning member to the team and is also serving as captain.

Intramurals

Four new activities
make program well-liked

The North Side intramural program added four activities to its previous four, says Mr. Robert Talliaferro.

The new activities were splasketball, table tennis, tennis, and softball. Splasketball is played in the pool, and is open to teachers as well as students. Table tennis is divided into two separate groups, men's and women's. Singles, doubles, and mixed doubles were played.

Fifty people signed up for the one-on-one basketball tourney. This turnout is the same number as last year.

Teachers involved in aiding Mr. Talliaferro were, Mr. John Tipple in the free swim, Mr. Norman Fisher and Mr. Alvin Harris in table tennis.

The program has hopes of expanding next year.

During a splasketball game, Junior Tom Knudson makes a diving attempt to regain control of the ball. This is the first year for splasketball in the intramural program.

Sophomore Bruce Habig guards his opponent in hopes of helping his team win. The intramural basketball program was one of eight programs directed at getting students involved in activities.

An unidentified goalie leaps high into the air to pull down the ball during a splasketball game. Splasketball is played Tuesday after school during the winter months.

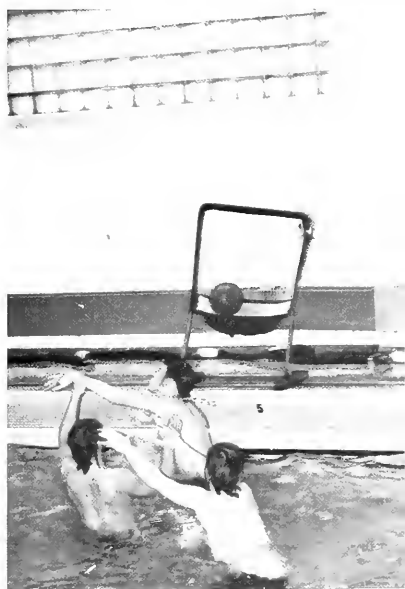

Sophomore Doug Strom receives instructions on the horse from instructor By Hey. Physical education classes and intramurals made use of the various gymnastic equipment.

As Junior Bill Sefton takes a jump shot, his teammates attempt to get good position under the boards anticipating a rebound.

A jump shot from the corner causes everyone to rush for a possible rebound. Intramural basketball took place on Wednesday nights and involved ten teams.

Three unidentified splatball players fight to retain possession of the ball.

Baseball

New coach introduces southern trip to team

The baseball team recieved a new coach as Mr. Mike Morris arrived, bringing hopes of a winning season with him.

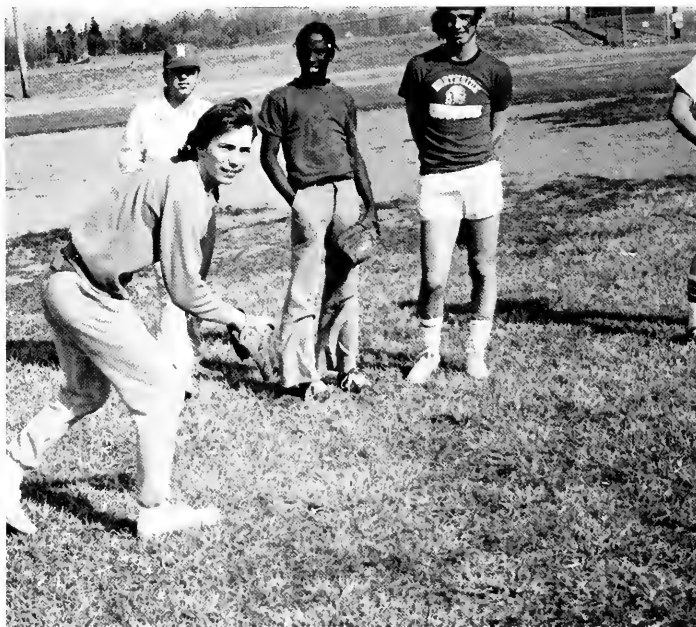

Coach Morris introduced the southern trip to prepare the team for the upcomming season. It took them to Floyd Central and Clarksville Providence. The team worked hard to finance this trip by selling fruit and sponsoring a car wash.

Coach Morris commented that his team had very little experience. Just three members were returning starters, but each of them is an all-city prospect. They are Rich Primeau, Jim Firks, and Erik Henry.

After a 7-12 record last year Coach Morris believes he has good hitters and expects a winning season.

The team was well stocked with 11 juniors, 7 sophomores and 5 seniors.

Assisting Coach Morris, were Mr. Gerry Tilker from Franklin and Mr. Verbie Walder.

Senior Steve Schultz shows rookie outfielders, Juniors Mike Westerman, Robert Mitchell, and Sophomore Shelly VanRyn, the basic fundamentals of going after a fly ball. Steve is a two-year veteran

Mr. Tilker, an assistant coach from Franklin, is watching Senior Erik Henry execute his pitching follow through while Junior Mark Beber looks on. The team practices behind Lakeside Junior High.

Senior third baseman, Jim Firks fields a ground ball in hopes of throwing the batter out at first. Rich Primeau moves to back him up just in case.

Mr. Garry Tilker, pitching and catching coach, tries to improve Junior Mark Peber's and Senior Greg Birely's pitching knowledge of the curve ball.

These girls are members of the Bat Girl Club, in which they follow each game and help with the equipment.

Girls Gymnastics

Another athletic team expands girls sports

This was the first year for a gymnastics team. The team consisted of sixteen girls who practiced every evening.

The team coach was Miss Pam Fredericks, who was from Memorial Elementary School. "We had a great time this year, and I hope we've gained enough experience to be the team I think we can be next year," she commented.

There were four different things in which the girls could take part in: vaulting, floor exercise, balance beam, and uneven parallel bars.

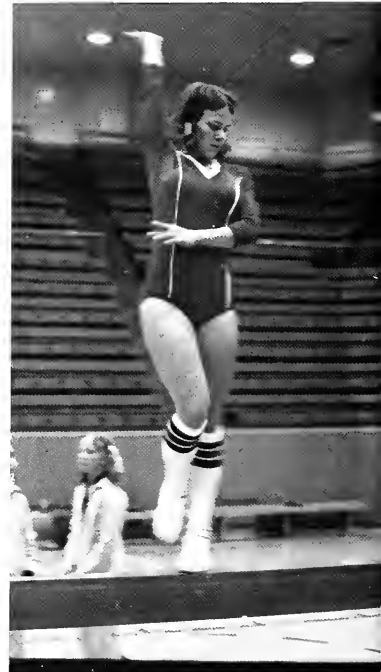

"I think we did a really good job this year," said Junior Pam Grider. She added, "However, next year should be much better."

Not all the moves done by the gymnastics team are graceful and co-ordinated. Sophomore Tina Ross makes a displeased face as she attempts to vault the horse.

Girls' Basketball

Working as a team
was main objective

Members of the varsity squad were (Front row) G. Stienbacher, C. Mosher, G. Vonderhaar, R. Beber, B. Woods, J. Mosley, D. Shoppell, and D. Simpson. (Second row) Miss Heck, D. Talaricco, J. Brown, C. Gutermuth, L. Lombard, J. Earl, C. Olry, S. Hinga, R. Herber, J. Achenbach, and Miss Donnelly.

"Our main objective was to work as a team," said Miss Nancy Heck who co-coached the girl's team. Miss Anne Donnelly also coached the basketball team.

There were seventeen girls, including managers, on the varsity squad. There was also a reserve team consisting mostly of sophomores. "All except four will be returning next year for what I think will be a great team," said Miss Donnelly.

According to Miss Donnelly, the main thing that helped the team this year was the spirit all the girls had about wanting to try as a team and not as individuals.

Mr. Arthur Eldridge was a big help to the girls by showing them plays and getting everything together.

Two girls jump high for the ball in the North-South game, the first game of the girls' basketball season. However, South went on to win the game.

Last year's track team finished the regular season with a 5-4 record. North won their first meet against New Haven 94-33 with Ralph Shaffer, Tim Meyers, and Jim Rodgers winning two events apiece.

Mike Jones proved what hard running and endurance can do for a person, as he was selected most improved runner. Johnny Craig was quite impressive by being MVP on the sophomore squad.

Gary Lewis placed first in sectional high jump and Tim Pickett and Jim Rodgers, after placing third and second in regional, went to state in the hurdles events, where Rogers took sixth. Bob Van Buskirk finished fourth in sectional and went to the regional. Rogers was named most valuable track man.

In this year's opening meets, Rick Rodgers won pole vault with a school-record 14'3" effort and Tim Pickett set a Field House and school record in the 50 yard hurdles at the Elkhart indoor meet with a clocking of 6.3 seconds. The team was awaiting their first outdoor meet of the year with New Haven.

Members of the National Honor Society were (Front row) Peggy Snyder, Patti Kever, Karen Wiley, Marita Meyer, Karen Madden, Mary Keltsch, Kathleen Michael, Holly Springer, Kim Sexton, and Jan Meyer. (Second row) Sheryl Schrock, Myra Van Curen, Denis Warner, Jim Stieglitz, Jeff Pickering, Thomas Lindsay, Joe Linder, Debbie Zozulia, and Cyndi Major. (Third row) Cathy Prante, Dennis Wright, and Herbert Timinsky.

High Honors:

Steven Benecke

Mike Foote

Luann Hoagland

David Irmischer

Cynthia Major

High Honors:

Candace Smith

Carolyn Snyder

Margaret Snyder

Herbert Timinsky

Student Council

Pep sessions, mugs
add to involvement

The main goal of Student Council was to become truly representative of the student body.

Many changes were made within the council. Meeting times were changed to homeroom periods, plus one "idea" meeting each month. Surveys were taken to get ideas from students and teachers. Special problem forms were made available, along with suggestion boxes.

Student Council was also involved in many projects. They gave a bingo party for the aged, helped with Redskin Rampage Week, put on skits for pep sessions, helped to keep bulletin boards attractive, and got permission to play music in the halls.

Sponsors for the Council were Mrs. Kathleen Neubaum and Mr. Richard Irving.

Mr. Richard Irving, sponsor, explains a new project to Senior representative Dave Irmischer. Many of the council's meetings were in the cafeteria.

During the Halloween pep session Student Council members performed a skit about Charlie Brown and his friends. The "actors" were Jeff Carcillo, Cindy Borror, Leonard Wood, and Jenny Householder.

Sarah Tharp, junior, folds programs for the concert presented by the Student Council, featuring "Under New Management," a musical group sponsored by Campus Life.

Dave Bennett, president of Student Council, presides over a discussion during a meeting. Seated with Dave are Patty McGee, secretary-treasurer, and Erik Henry, vice-president.

Helicon

Theme of club: Be service club to student body and community

The Helicon Club was an organization of English students. The only requirement to be in Helicon was that the student had to have a B+ or better grade average in English.

The main theme of Helicon was to be a service club to the student body and the community. This theme was carried out through the annual Christmas party at the Byron Health Center and the publication of Kaliedoscope, their literary magazine.

The Kaliedoscope consisted of short stories, poetry, essays, book reviews, other short writings, and art work—all done by the members of the club.

Selections for the magazine were all selected and gathered by the end of February. The following two months were spent typing, assembling, and putting the magazine together.

The Kaliedoscope was about 30 pages long, but has now expanded to 60-80 pages in length. Last year the magazine was "completely sold out" according to Mrs. Neuhaus.

Mrs. Neuhaus and Mr. Robert Pugh were sponsors.

Going over possible copy for the Kaliedoscope are Keith Shuler, poetry editor, Mrs. Kathleen Neuhaus, sponsor, and Lisa Dennis, short story editor.

NFL Speech

Team choose from two main areas: speech and debate

Senior Leonard Wood presents his humorous cutting from "The Last of the Red Hot Lovers" to his speech class.

The National Forensic League (NFL) had two areas: Speech and debate. The Debate was divided into three divisions: Novice for the first year, sub-varsity, and varsity for the top debaters. Solo-speech had competition in ten areas: Humorous, dramatic, poetry and oratorical interpretations with original oratory, impromptu, boys' and girls' extemporaneous, radio, and discussion.

The basic season went from October to April, with tournaments on Saturdays. The sectionals, regionals, and state meets were in March along with NFL District Meets.

The goal of the team was enjoyment in meeting others and they were encouraged to do their best by team sponsor, Miss Claryn Birk.

Drama, FSA Clubs projects include film fest and stationery

Juniors Calvin Swagin and Rick McKinley work on building part of the set to be used in the musical production, "On a Clear Day."

Members of the Drama Club were (Top to bottom) Calvin Swagin, Ruth Brackman, Pete Albright, Linda Rowald, Leonard Wood, Janele Bergham, Cheri Miller, Lori Redwanski, Pam Hughes, Mr. Douglas Stark, Rose Herber, and Doug Hopper.

Working on sets, making, and finding appropriate costumes, and getting props were some of the responsibilities of the Drama Club.

Most members of the club had been in a drama class, and worked in one of the Drama Department's productions.

Whenever a play was in production, the club met after school to work on building the sets needed. Included were such jobs as helping with the lighting for the plays and make-up for the actors.

As a money-making project the Drama Club sponsored a film festival in December. The Drama Club was sponsored by drama director Douglas Stark.

The purpose of the Future Secretaries Association (FSA) was to bring high school students a better understanding of the business world with experienced secretaries.

The girls met in their regular advanced shorthand class. During this time they took part in the traditional National Secretaries Association (NSA) candlelight initiation, planned field trips and sold stationery.

FSA was sponsored by Mrs. Irma Johnson.

Leader Corps

Girls need desire, ability to teach

Sophomore Debbie Gaunt and Junior Cathy Covault, member of Leader Corps, act as obstacles for an unidentified tumbler.

Leader Corps consisted of Junior and Senior girls who had the desire and ability to develop their leadership qualities by on-the-spot experience in physical education.

The Corps encouraged initiative, responsibility, good judgment, diligence and the ability to think and act constructively and intelligently.

Responsibilities of the leaders ranged from taking attendance, keeping teaching records, and checking proper dress of students, to setting up, replacing and cleaning equipment, returning supplies, and keeping inventory records.

The Corps also took part in testing students—timing, administering and recording test scores, officiating games, coaching, and assisting in the planning and conduct of demonstrations and exhibitions.

To join The Leader Corps, girls must have a special recommendation from Physical Education teacher Miss Anne Donnelly.

Varsity, Concert Bands

Groups entertain at North and Junior Highs

Members of the Concert Band are (Front row) A. McMahon, B. Gething, C. Doell, S. Bloomfield, C. Parkins, P. Snyder, D. Hartzell, J. Regedanz, M. Burke, (Second row) P. Kever, B. Graff, S. Volkert, M. Van Curen, K. Wiley, P. Davidson, M. Keltch, J. Hendrickson, S. Hinkle, D. Brockner, G. Patterson, L. Voorhees, J. Hursh, C. Mosher, R. Heeren, D. Zozulia, (Third row) S. Graff, R. Roady, J. Weidner, J. Carlson, M. Westerman, K. Conway, J. Palm, M. Akey, P. Albright, B. Gething, B. Robertson, M. Marino, R. Sparks, B. Drew, (Fourth row) V. Nunn, K. Geist, B. Richardson, C. Holt, R. Brackman, P. Conley, D. Murphy, M. Sherman, T. Lindsay, D. Eberhardt, M. Mahlan, D. Wright, J. Carpenter, T. Sievers, L. Seeger, A. Zweig, M. Pifer, J. Grueb, (Fifth row) E. King (director), C. Swangin, M. Perry, T. Ramsey, D. Hopper, D. Pickering, C. Nichols, M. Timmis.

Varsity Band contained sophomores training to be part of the Concert Band. They met second period and were under the direction of Mr. Edward King. A few upperclassmen helped out the sophomores whenever they were short a certain instrument.

Concert Band consisted mainly of upperclassmen who wanted to further their education in music. It met first period and Mr. King selected and directed the more difficult pieces. One of his favorites was "An Ellington Portrait," which they played for the Winter Concert. They played at most of the concerts given by the Fine Arts Department and gave performances at numerous junior highs.

Both Bands were combined to make up the Marching Redskin Band.

Early in the morning music can be heard throughout the halls as each band practices. Here, Mr. Ed King directs the Orchestra.

Members of the Varsity Band are (Front row) L. Barton, P. Payne, M. Ashley, K. Turner, B. Holt, V. Hernandez (Second row) R. Seeger, J. Powers, B. Eloranta, S. Rich, G. Jackson, J. Snyder, C. Mosher, C. Myers, S. Hartzog, J. Grandos. (Third row) C. Bowers, P. Hileman, C. Vice, F. Treesh, D. Reynolds, K. Gouwens, S. Wright, J. Heim, D. Johnson, S. Daugherty, V. Welch. (Fourth row) E. King (director), K. Gaby, J. Harter, T. Bauman, M. Pifer, J. Nordyke, J. Bonifas, D. Bryan.

Jazz music is the Wildsiders' specialty. Here, some of the members (both girls and guys) perform before the Campus Life group "Under New Management."

Orchestra "Pit" performs for musical; new group added to department

The drum majors, who led the Marching Band were Bruce Robertson and Carolyn Parkins. Both won a first division at drum major camp during the summer.

The Orchestra was directed by both Mr. Phillip Stubblefield and Mr. Edward King. The String Ensemble members were chosen out of the Orchestra. The Pit Orchestra, which played at the Drama Department's musical, "On a Clear Day," were also from the Orchestra.

The Music Department had a new group that met before school almost every morning. This group was called the Brass Choir and was directed by Mr. Rick Ludwig. It was made up entirely of the Brass section of the Band.

Members of the Pep Band perform before the student body at a pep session. The Band also played at each home basketball game.

Members of the Orchestra are (Front row) C. Snyder, B. Fox, E. Pauly, T. Daugherty, A. Eberhardt, K. Meyer, M. Smith, C. Parkins, C. Smith. (Second row) K. Madden, A. Oldham, G. Steinbacher, B. Daugherty, J. Morris, P. Schuhler. (Third row) S. Bloomfield, R. Heeren, R. Sparks, D. Zozulia, A. McMahon, B. Gething, M. Snyder, J. Hendrickson, J. Hursh, R. Roady, S. Graff, S. Volkert, B. Graff, P. Keever, S. Hinkle, J. Snyder, M. Keltsch, R. Heaston, N. Lipp, R. Seeger, D. Johnston, L. Seeger. (Fourth row) R. Brackmann, K. Conway, J. Palm, M. Akey, B. Robertson, B. Gething, T. Sievers, B. Drew, M. Mahlan, A. Zweig. (Fifth row) P. Stubblefield (director), E. King (director), C. Nichols, T. Ramsey, T. Bauman, D. Bryan.

Drum Majors are Seniors Bruce Robertson and Carolyn Parkins.

Members of the String Ensemble are Carolyn Synder, Brenda Fox, Dan Johnston, Candy Smith, and Kim Meyer. The director of this is Mr. Phillip Stubblefield.

Vocal Music

Groups give concerts
for North and community

Three main singing groups represented the Fine Arts Department. These were A'Cappella, Troubadors, and Madrigals.

A'Cappella was the largest vocal group. The Troubadors were a more select group taken out of A'Cappella. Students were chosen after trying out for their positions.

The Madrigals consisted of 10 students who usually sang with absolutely no accompaniment. This group consisted of 5 girls and 5 guys.

During the year these groups performed at different concerts in school. The singing groups also gave performances at different buildings, such as singing at Lincoln Life during Christmas time.

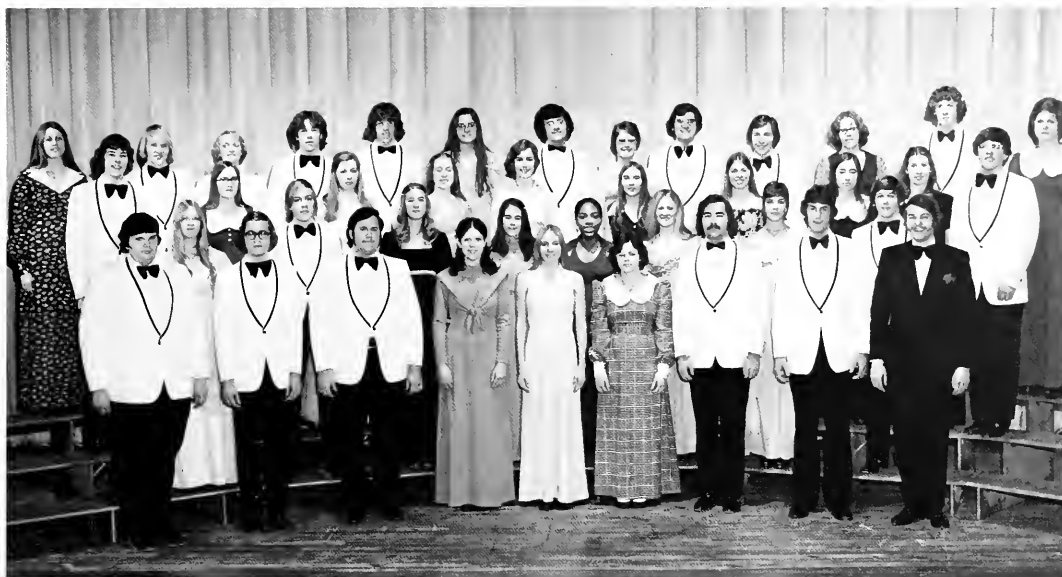

Mr. John Hill directed these students with the assistance of Mr. Phillip Stubblefield.

Members of Troubadours are (Front row) C. Miller, J. Coles, J. Crozier, G. Burkdoll, R. Beber, J. Meyer, P. Albright, B. Cething, J. Hill (director). (Second row) C. Syndram, L. Coles, K. Foltz, B. Cething, D. Page, R. Hayes, S. Jones, R. McKinley. (Third row) M. Hoover, V. Culbertson, S. Somers, J. Richardson, N. McKathnie, K. Michael, M. Ford, J. McMahon, K. Meyer, J. Cuthrie. (Fourth row) P. Hughes, T. Ramsey, J. Sibert, J. Palm, S. Spridgeon, M. Goff, T. Buchan, K. Lambert, L. Seeger, M. Scott, R. Brackmann, M. Sherman, K. Walker.

Music

Arrowettes place at NISBOVA;
Groups stress togetherness

The Arrowettes had a special addition to their corps that few schools have. This was a Swiss Flag Twirling group consisting of four girls. These four flag girls, three twirlers, and twenty-four pom-pom girls performed at home football and basketball games. Directed by Mr. Rick Ludwig, they won first place at NISBOVA, the state contest for baton and flag twirling.

Training Choir, directed by Mr. Phillip Stubblefield, consisted of sophomores wanting to train their voices for the future music classes and also learn how to read music.

The group of underclassmen training to be Wildsiders must first be a member of the Rehearsal Stage Band for a year. They and the Wildsiders both played at school concerts, dances, and other public functions.

The Wildsiders played at the Elmhurst Jazz Festival and the NISBOVA contest. Mr. Ed King directed them. Mr. Ludwig directed the Rehearsal Stage Band.

School events focused
by staff's issues

Keeping the students informed on what's happening in and around the school is the main function of The Northerner, according to advisor Miss Norma Thiele.

The editors made all assignments for the staff members. They also checked over copy and planned the layout for the paper. The reporters were responsible for collecting information and checking it out to make sure it is accurate.

The ad manager plays an important part, since The Northerner is financed mostly from advertisements. She was responsible for calling local business places to see if they were interested in placing an ad in the paper and drawing up the contracts for the weekly paper.

Editors Kathy Franson and Jennifer Jones work to put The Northerner together. The offset printing method was used for the first time.

The Northerner editor Jennifer Jones has a meeting with some of her staff members to discuss materials to be used in the upcoming issue and to make assignments for each student.

Junior Bill Tutwiler runs a picture through the waxer, which is used to make the paper sticky so it can be placed on the layout for The Northerner.

Junior Peggy Richardson prepares to take the page layouts down to the printers. The printer then, in turn, makes final sheets for The Northerner.

Numbering the picture proof sheets is the job of Senior Bob Van Buskirk, photographer. This is necessary so a negative can be found for a future Northerner or Legend print.

Legend

Separate works joined as one at year's end: yearbook

The purpose of the 1975 Legend was to tell the story of the year, according to adviser Miss Norma Thiele.

When school began this fall, eleven of the twenty staff members were assigned to different sections of the yearbook. Each student was responsible for setting up picture appointments for the various sections and for planning interviews with teachers and sponsors. They also did layouts, which are plans of what the pages will look like. For their layouts, the staff must write copy and captions for the pictures.

The other staff members do various jobs. The photographers, business staff, and typists all play an important part in the production of The Legend.

Editor Sue Behrns works on deadline dates for The Legend staff. Deadlines were important because Mr. Larry Glaze of the Paragon Publishing Company came about a week later to pick up the finished sheets.

Photographers Jeff Carcillo and Joe Willig load their cameras with new film to take pictures for The Legend and The Northerner.

Choosing some pictures that will be printed in the yearbook was one of the jobs for seniors Derk Hinsey, and Lisa Dennis. The photographers take a variety of pictures and the staff members decide which ones are best for The Legend.

earn recognition

The 1500 Club and Quill and Scroll were both publication clubs for students who worked on the yearbook or newspaper.

Points were awarded to students for their contributions to the publication of the yearbook, and all of the articles written for the newspaper.

Members of Quill and Scroll had the accumulated experience of producing seven Legends and 256 issues of The Northerner. To become members of Quill and Scroll, an international organization, many requirements had to be met.

Only seniors were eligible for this honor. They had to be in the upper third of their class, and they had to be recommended by the journalism teacher, Miss Norma Thiele.

JCL, Psychology

JCL for any Latin student;
Psychology club has seminars

A club designed to make it possible for Latin students to be together was The Junior Classical League, or JCL Club. Any past or present Latin student was eligible for the club, as well as those who had a strong interest in Latin.

One of the major highlights of the year was the annual cookout at Franke Park in the spring. This event usually featured game competition between the seniors and underclassmen.

The club sponsor was Latin teacher Mr. Ward Beckley.

The Psychology Club was started for people who were interested in the subject and wanted to have a better understanding of themselves. There was a series of seminars on transactional analysis based on the book, "I'm Okay, You're Okay." Also, a main lecture was given on transcendent meditation.

The club sponsors were Mrs. Wilma Ashe, Mr. Robert Ashe, and Mr. Ward Beckley.

Ripplettes

Much time spent on
"Around the World"

The Ripplettes were a twenty-member water drill team that put on a show in April.

The theme for their numbers was "Around the World." They performed to polkas, waltzes, and any other music signifying countries around the world. There were two solos performed by Kim Meyer and Chris Monnier, and one feature solo by Judy Aumiller. The girls practiced every Monday and Wednesday after school for this performance.

There were only five new members, and the sponsors were Miss Claryn Birk and Mrs. Martha Concalves.

The president of the Ripplettes was Kim Meyer, secretary was Patti Schwyn, historian was Chris Monnier, and water show director was Judy Aumiller.

Members of the Ripplettes' synchronized swimming team do their routine on dry land for a change. These members are Crista Earl, Jenny Dreher, Nancy Schulte, Debbie Dietz, and Judy Aumiller.

Members of the Ripplettes were (Front row) Julie Butz, Chris Purdy, Emy Short, LuAnn Hoagland, and Angie Meyers. (Second row) Sue Schwyn, Debbie Dietz, Tammy Shideler, Judy Aumiller, and Kim Meyer. (Third row) Christine Monnier, Jenny Dreher, Pam Dolson, Joyce Carlson, and Jan Powers.

Afro-American Club

Main theme expressed through activities

Going over plans for their Christmas Party are Afro Club members Tina Stewart, Alan McGee, and Judy Shade. Looking on are two of the club's sponsors, Mr. A.C. Eldridge, and Mr. Phillip Stubblefield.

Skating parties, a soul dinner, dances, and participating in the "Black Expo" were some of the main activities Afro-American club members were involved in throughout the year.

The club sponsored a skating party in October for the entire student body. This was not only a money-making project, but also one for enjoyment.

Afro club members, along with other high school Afro clubs, participated in "Black Expo" on October 19-20 at the I.U.-Purdue regional campus. Students shared their Black culture by making displays, being on panel discussions, and performing in a talent show.

The main theme of the Afro Club was aimed at the treatment of the Black experience, culture, society, and their contributions to the U.S.

Club sponsors were A.C. Eldridge, Alvin Harris, Phillip Stubblefield, and Verbie Walder.

Media, Service Workers Clubs help faculty in everyday duties

The Media Center had two groups incorporated in its efficient working. Mrs. Zehner was librarian and directed the Student Library Aides who helped run the library portion of the center. Mr. Theodore Crum directed the audio-visual section which took care of all A.V. equipment and the ordering of the films that were seen in school. All together 14 students donated time.

The Service Club was an organization of students who assisted the school in various everyday duties. They picked up absence cards, typed up the weekly activities and posted them on the bulletin board. This club was open to all of those who had a free period and wished to help in the principal's, guidance, or dean's office.

Mr. Don Evans stresses a point in his Values and Issues class. Mr. Evans also sponsors the Social Studies Honor Club.

Social Studies Honor

Club studies society;
Roush and Helmke come

Service workers were (Front row) Karen Wiley, Teresa North, Susan Knuth, and Jan Meyer. (Second row) Anita Robinson, Myra Van Curen, and George Robinson. (Third row) Linda Lampkins, Holly Feichter, and Lisa Dennis.

The Social Studies Honor Group was an organization designed for students who were interested in social affairs. This was the third year for the club.

Club members visited local government units and community service organizations. They studied the "hows" and "whys" of society and the ways in which it functioned.

The group also took a major interest in current events. Last November around election time the group succeeded in getting Congressman Ed Roush and his opponent Walter Helmke to come speak to the seniors. They also studied current affairs that were happening in and around the community.

The club sponsor was Mr. Don Evans.

DECA

"learn by doing"

DECA was a vocational program for students who wanted to "learn by doing." The actual class met first period. In class they were taught from a textbook about marketing, sales, and distribution. Then they went to their individual jobs at different stores to test what they learned. Mr. Richard Irving, sponsor and teacher, set up interviews with interested employers, and the rest was up to the student.

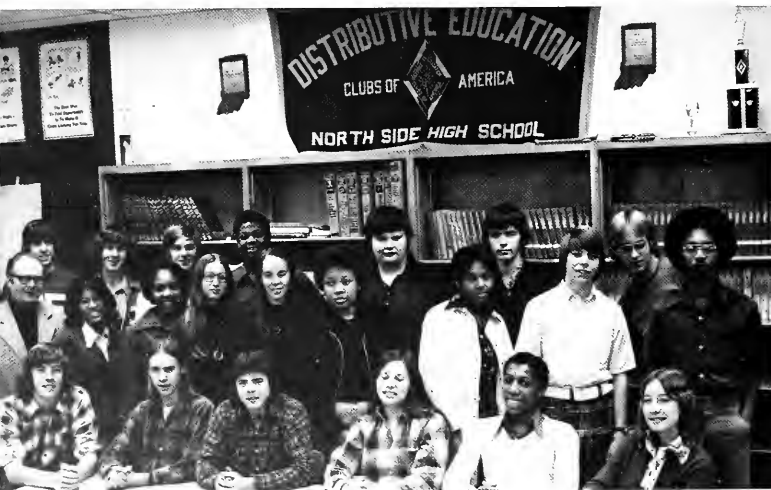

Students got graded on their performance at their jobs and in the classroom. They received one business credit for it.

DECA had a contest on February 15. Participants competed in the areas of sales demonstrations, public speaking, merchandising, business math, and spelling tests. The finalists then went to the State contest at French Lick.

Senior Mark Hoover was president and Senior Leslie Polivchak was secretary.

OEA

Advisor gets jobs for OEA students

OEA students go to school in the morning, practicing their business skills, and use these skills at their jobs in the afternoon.

OEA is a twenty-four member, all girl club. The girls must also take a class called COE. OEA stands for Office Education Association and is a National Program.

Through Miss Nancy Heck, the advisor, the girls are interviewed for jobs as secretaries or receptionists. They receive two credits for the class and four for the jobs. Miss Heck visits the offices and talks to the employers. They receive a grade for the classroom work and their work on the job. They are paid minimum wages for it.

To be in this club or class, each individual is interviewed by Miss Heck, and she decides whom she will accept, according to the pupils' previous business classes and their goals in the future.

In May, each employer is invited to a banquet given by OEA in their honor. The money for the banquet comes from the many projects the girls partake in throughout the year.

Senior Carol Fields points out an error to Senior Cindy Fatzinger as they go over Cindy's typing assignment during class.

AFS Foreign student comes to learn U.S. customs

The American Field Service (AFS) was an organization which provided an opportunity for students from other countries to attend school in the U.S. through an exchange program. It also gave American students a chance to visit other countries.

The students live with a family in the country where they are going. After applications and interviews it is decided which family the visitor will live with.

Visiting students learned about the country's customs and tried to better understand the people.

North's AFS student was Senior Clara Benitez. She was from Paraguay and was living with Sara Rumage, who was vice-president of the organization.

AFS exchange student Clara Benitez of Paraguay, practices her typing in class, one of the six courses she took.

Students wearing these tags represented Student Council during a special week promoting ideas from the Student Body.

Ernie Imbach, a counselor from California, came to talk to Redskins about human relations. Here he is shown talking to some individuals.

Three female members of the Speech and Debate team converse at a meet. Pictured are Senior Joan Skordos, Junior Molly Higgins, and Senior Jenny Dreher.

Cooks, Custodians/

Service staff makes
North more like home

The cooks and custodians play a big part in the function of the school.

The custodians make sure that the halls, classrooms, restrooms, and other areas are clean. They also clean up the gym area after pep sessions and before and after the games.

The cooks prepare the lunches and fill selections for the a la carte. They also serve lunches and are responsible for operating the cash registers. Each day these ladies prepare a large quantity of food and try to provide a good variety.

These people make it more pleasant for the students and faculty who must spend their time in school. Having clean facilities and nutritious food is an important factor that is necessary to have an efficient school.

Custodians Harold King and Cecil Hopper take time out to relax after performing some of their daily duties. Along with the other custodians they keep halls, restrooms, and other areas clean.

It takes a lot of work and a lot of lettuce to make enough salad, proven here by Geraldine Cook.

Helping to prepare lunches for students is a daily job for cook Sharon Watkins. Two kinds of meals are offered plus the a la carte selections.

Dessert is just as important as the main course, so substitute cook Mrs. Denny Phillips is busy making cookies. The cookies are sold with the tray lunches and in the a la carte line.

Sophomores Cindy Overholt and Dennis Rutledge take time to study the newspaper before a news quiz in beginning Journalism class.

During home football games a new tradition started. Chief Mac or one of his squaws rode a horse down the field when a touchdown was made. Here Sophomore Margaret Borg starts the journey down the field.

Mr. Phillip Stubblefield directs his Sophomore Training Choir. Among many things, Mr. Stubblefield taught the class how to harmonize.

Sophomore cheerleader Mary Behrns does a cheer at the Northrop pep session on "Overall the Bruins" Day. Everyone wore overalls to signify an overall victory.

As the school year comes to an end we reflect upon the past nine months. The barriers that we had to face inside school are broken down as much as possible. New faculty members feel welcome at North; girl's sports are known and taking their part alongside the men's sports; and classes, together, become one. These barriers may build up again, but with unity, friendliness, and understanding, the school, as one, will come out on top.

For the graduating class of '75, more barriers stand in their way to the future. Although many of these young adults have made plans for the years ahead, little decisions still have to be conquered. Knowing this, the class of '75 faces the future with eagerness and determination to break those barriers.

We extend sincere thanks to Larry Glaze of Paragon for his assistance on the technical aspects of The Legend. We thank Marty Pequiot for her lettering on the Album division spreads. Special thanks are extended to our student teacher, Miss Nancy Weeks, who learned, along with us, the value of time and importance of speed in putting together The Legend. We also extend our deep thanks and appreciation to Miss Norma Thiele, our advisor, who stood by and guided us through each day with patience and confidence.

Watters Studio at 3635 Lake Ave. has a reputation of "Photographs of Distinction" which lives on and on.

Senior Peggy Metzler discusses with the receptionist at Watters different frame sizes for her senior picture. The studio handles all of North Side's Senior for class pictures.

Members of the Boys' Cheerblock get the fans enthused by getting down on the track and leading one of the cheers.

Mrs. Otte and Mr. Gruver, along with the Cheerblock, wish the Class of '75 good luck in their future.

Students in Cheerblock go wild as North scores another point against the Northrop Bruins. These members went to every game to cheer the team on to victory.
